Section 1: Community College of Baltimore County

1.01 Introduction

- A. Two-year co-educational community colleges were established in Baltimore County in the late 1950s as a result of recommendations by the Governor's Commission to Study the Needs of Higher Education in Maryland. The commission recommended that the establishment of community colleges constitute the first step in the program for meeting the demands of higher education which could not be met by expanding institutions already in existence.
- B. Community colleges exist to meet varied societal demands for education beyond high school at a cost that is affordable to the student. Through general education, transfer, career education and vocational, developmental, technical, and continuing education, community colleges enhance quality of life, promote economic development and facilitate individual self-improvement.
- C. In Baltimore County, the Catonsville and Essex community colleges were established in 1957, with Dundalk Community college being founded in 1971. The colleges operated as separate institutions reporting to a single board. On Oct. 1, 1998, the Community College of Baltimore County (the "college" or "CCBC"), with campuses in Catonsville, Dundalk and Essex, became established by law. CCBC is now a single-college, multi-campus institution, including several satellite locations and online educational programming.

2.02 Membership and duties of the board

- A. Membership and organization
 - 1. The board of trustees of CCBC shall consist of 15 members, one at-large and 14 from the councilmanic districts in Baltimore County, two from each district, to be appointed by the governor of the state of Maryland with the advice and consent of the state Senate, in accordance with the Annotated Code of Maryland, Education Article, Title 16.
 - 2. The president of the college shall serve as the secretary-treasurer of the board of trustees as a non-voting member of the board.
 - 3. The term of a board member is five years and begins on July 1. A board member may be reappointed for a second term, but may not serve more than two consecutive terms.
 - 4. The board of trustees shall have legal authority only when the board is in formal session and when a quorum is present. A majority of the full membership of the board shall constitute a quorum. A board member is deemed present when attending a formal session in person, by video conference, or by phone.
 - 5. The control over the college by the board of trustees is not by individual members, but through the majority vote whereby rules, regulations, policies and other actions are approved.

6. Absent extenuating circumstances, any board member shall be considered to have resigned from the board should they fail to attend 50% of the board meetings during any period of 12 consecutive months.

B. Officers

3. The secretary-treasurer shall ascertain that all funds are received, held in custody and expended, consistent with the direction of the board, and shall be responsible for ensuring that an accurate record of the minutes of the board is maintained, that approved minutes are made available to the public, and that any reports required by the board are prepared.

2.03 Interim board approval process

2.04 Trustee code of conduct

- A. Introduction

The purpose of this code of conduct is to establish ethical and professional standards for the board of trustees of CCBC and its members. This code of conduct shall be followed by each member of the board. This code of conduct is not intended as aspirational, but rather a specific way of conducting oneself as a member of the board.
- B. Standards of conduct

Board members occupy a position of public trust and, in execution of that responsibility, are expected to:

 - 1. Devote the time and thought necessary to become knowledgeable of the work, structure, governance and affairs of CCBC so that responsibilities as a trustee can be carried out in a conscientious and informed manner.
 - 2. Support and advise the president as the chief administrative and academic officer of CCBC.
 - 3. Prepare for, regularly attend, and actively participate in scheduled board meetings and accept committee assignments and other tasks, as requested by the board chair or the president.
 - 4. Treat fellow board members and all members of the CCBC community with courtesy, fairness and good faith and respect their differences of opinion.

5. Assure the financial solvency, academic excellence and integrity of CCBC.
6. Vote knowledgeably and honestly on matters presented to the board, based on what is in the best interest of CCBC, rather than personal bias or outside influence.
7. Be an advocate of CCBC and support the majority position of the board.
8. Refrain from conduct, activities and/or associations that may bring embarrassment or disrepute to CCBC and resign if such conduct occurs.
9. Abide by the conflict of interest and ethical requirements that are applicable to the board and strive to avoid even the appearance of a conflict of interest when conducting board affairs.
10. Refrain from using board membership to obtain employment at CCBC for themselves, family members or close associates.
11. Respect the confidential nature of executive session board deliberations.
12. Refrain from acting as spokesperson for the board unless specifically authorized to do so by the chair.
13. Participate in educational conferences, training sessions and workshops to enhance the board member's ability to serve CCBC.
14. Understand and consistently utilize the designated institutional channels in conducting board business.
15. Accept the spirit of academic freedom, shared governance, and diversity, equity, and inclusion as fundamental aspects of CCBC governance.
16. Understand the role of the board as a policymaking body and resist acting as an administrator of such policy.
17. Ensure that the performance of the president and the board are regularly evaluated.

C. Violations, censure and removal from the board

1. Potential violations

A fellow trustee, an officer of the board, or the college president can report a suspected violation of this policy to the board chair. Board members should consult with the board chair and/or college president if they are unsure if an activity or action violates this policy. In the chair's absence, or if the board chair is suspected of policy violations, the vice chair shall perform these duties.

2. Violations

A board member who violates the standards of conduct or misuses college resources must remedy the violation immediately. Board members who commit serious or continued violations are subject to action by the board as set forth in this policy.

3. Private admonishment of a board member

The board chair shall speak privately to a trustee if serious or continued policy violations are suspected. After hearing the trustee's explanation, the board chair may end the inquiry or choose to privately admonish the trustee. In the chair's absence, or if the chair is suspected of policy violations, the vice chair shall perform these duties.

4. Censure (public reprimand)

The board chair or vice chair may recommend censure of a trustee who violates this code of conduct. The trustee who could be censured shall receive written notice of the recommendation at least seven business days in advance and have an opportunity to be heard by the board. The hearing and deliberations will occur in executive session. The board may deliberate without the potentially censured trustee in attendance. A majority vote of the board in open session is required for censure of a trustee.

5. Removal from the board

The board chair or vice chair may recommend removal of a trustee who violates this code of conduct. The trustee who could be removed shall receive written notice of the recommendation at least seven business days in advance and have an opportunity to be heard by the board. The hearing and deliberations will occur in executive session. The board may deliberate without the potentially removed trustee in attendance. A two-thirds affirmative vote of the board in open session is required to remove a trustee from the board.

D. Conflict of interest

Board members shall avoid conflicts of interest. There must be no self-dealing or any conduct of private business or personal services between any board member and CCBC.

Board members shall maintain unconflicted loyalty to CCBC and members of the CCBC community. This accountability supersedes any conflicting loyalty such as that to advocacy or other special interest groups, political parties, and membership on other boards. This accountability also supersedes the personal interest of any board member acting as a consumer of CCBC services.

All board members shall submit annually a written statement to the board chair acknowledging their receipt of this code of conduct and disclosing any matter or relationship that the board member believes could constitute a conflict of interest.

1. Prohibited activities

A conflict of interest is a situation that involves a personal, familial, political, or business relationship between a board member and CCBC that could reasonably be expected to impair a board member's impartiality or independent judgment in the discharge of their duties to CCBC. Board members shall disclose any conflict of interest, at the earliest practicable time, by written notice to the board.

Conflicts of interest include, but are not limited to, the following activities:

- a. A board member has an existing or potential financial or other interest which impairs or might appear to impair the board member's impartiality or independent judgment in the discharge of their duties to CCBC.
- b. A board member is aware that a member of their family or any organization in which the board member is an officer, director, employee, member, partner, trustee, or controlling stockholder has such an existing or potential financial or other interest.
- c. A board member is in competition, directly or indirectly, with CCBC in the purchase or sale of property or property rights, interest or services.
- d. A board member is aware that a member of their family or any organization in which the board member is an officer, director, employee, member, partner, trustee, or controlling stockholder is in such competition.
- e. A board member or an immediate family member of the board member holds a position with CCBC as an employee or contractor for goods or services.
- f. A board member holds any other employment relationship which impairs or might appear to impair the board member's impartiality or independent judgment in the discharge of their duties to CCBC.

- g. A board member accepts gifts, entertainment, or other favors (or an immediate family member receives services or accepts gifts, entertainment, or other favors) from any person or concern that does, or seeks to do, business with CCBC under circumstances which might cause a reasonable person to believe that the board member would be influenced by such favors in the performance of their duties to CCBC.

2. Voting

No board member shall vote on any matter under consideration at a board or board committee meeting in which the member has a conflict of interest, nor shall such board member be counted in determining the quorum for such meeting. Minutes of the meeting shall reflect that a disclosure was made, that the board member having a conflict of interest abstained from voting, and that the board member was not counted in determining a quorum for the meeting.

3. Resolution of conflicts

In the event a board member secures or holds any employment that could reasonably be perceived as a conflict of interest, they must withdraw from board deliberation, voting, and access to applicable board information and seek a leave of absence during the term of employment. A leave of absence taken under such circumstances shall not be counted against the board member's required meeting attendance. If the employment is of a permanent nature, the board member must resign or is subject to removal from the board in accordance with this policy (Section C).

In the event a board member is elected to political office, such board member must resign from the board within 30 business days after the date of their election. In the interest of disclosure, a board member shall notify the board chair and secretary-treasurer that they have filed for election to political office within 10 business days after the date of such filing.

A board member presenting any other ongoing conflict of interest shall work with the president and board chairperson to resolve the conflict. Should attempts to resolve the conflict fail, the board member must resign or be subject to removal from the board in accordance with this policy (Section C).

4. By majority vote, the members of each of the appropriate grievance committees shall elect a chair. The chair shall serve in that capacity until the end of their term unless removed by (a) majority vote of the appropriate grievance committee, or (b) a majority vote of the college senate.
5. If a hearing is or will be in progress beyond the formal expiration of a term, the representatives, including the committee chair, that received the grievance shall continue to serve on the grievance committee until their recommendation is issued.

In the event of a grievance continuing after June 15 and before Aug. 15, the 10-month faculty member(s) serving on the grievance committee shall continue to serve, with compensation consistent with their current salary, for their time spent on the grievance matter and in a grievance hearing, as appropriate.

A grievant who is a 10-month faculty member will also be similarly compensated for the time spent in a grievance hearing that occurs after June 15 and before Aug. 15.

6. Prior to winter recess, the college senate chair will provide the assistant vice president of human resources with a list identifying the members of each grievance committee.

D. Resignation and removal from a grievance committee

1. The college senate may remove a representative, upon 30 business days prior written notice, if, in the reasonable discretion of the college senate, the continued service of that representative would be detrimental to the operation of the grievance committee or the other responsibilities of the representative make it difficult for the representative to be an effective member of the grievance committee.
2. A representative may recuse themselves or the college senate may require that a representative not participate in a hearing due to a conflict of interest related to the grievant or the grievance. In such case, the college senate shall select a temporary representative or alternate to participate in the hearing. Once the hearing is concluded and the committee has rendered its decision, the temporary representative shall step down.
3. Any member of the grievance committee may resign by providing written notice within 30 business days of the effective date of resignation to the chair of the grievance committee and to the college senate.

E. Vacancy on a grievance committee

When a vacancy arises on a grievance committee, the appropriate constituency of the college senate shall elect a new representative for the vacant position. The senate secretary shall seek nominations and coordinate elections for the positions.

F. Operating procedures

1. Operation of the grievance committee

- a. A quorum shall consist of the chair (or the temporary chair, as described below) and two of the four representatives. The chair shall make a reasonable effort to attend all hearings. In the event, however, the chair is unable to attend a hearing, the chair may designate, in writing, a temporary chair from among the other representatives. Hearings and other formal business of the grievance committee can be conducted only when a quorum is present.
- b. The chair, as well as each representative, shall have one vote. Provided that a quorum is present, a majority vote of those representatives present is required to pass any measure, except with respect to the election of the chair.
- c. If a grievance filed by a faculty member requires a hearing between June 15 and Aug. 15 in accordance with this procedure, the Faculty Grievance Committee shall conduct the hearing. Faculty members on 10-month contracts who serve as representatives shall receive compensation, consistent with their current salary, for their time spent on the grievance matter and in a grievance hearing, as appropriate.

2. Filing a grievance

- a. A grievant shall submit their grievance in writing to the assistant vice president of human resources or designee where it will be time/dated as received. A grievance must be submitted within 45 business days of the event(s) giving rise to the grievance. For 10-month employees, the period of June 15 to Aug. 15 will not be counted towards these time requirements. Failure to meet time requirements will result in denial of the grievance, except in special circumstances as determined in the sole discretion of the assistant vice president of Human Resources.
- b. Within 10 business days of the receipt date of a written grievance, the assistant vice president of Human Resources shall send a copy of the grievance to the chair of the appropriate grievance committee and the grievant's immediate supervisor, or if the grievance involves the immediate supervisor, to the second-level supervisor.

- c. The assistant vice president of Human Resources will attempt to resolve the grievance informally by facilitating discussion among the grievant, the grievant's supervisor, and/or the grievant's second-level supervisor. With mutual consent of the assistant vice president of Human Resources and the grievant, another CCBC employee may attempt to informally resolve the grievance. If the assistant vice president of Human Resources is unable to informally resolve the grievance within 10 business days of the receipt date of the written grievance, the assistant vice president of Human Resources will make a written recommendation regarding resolution of the grievance within 20 business days of the receipt date of the written grievance. If the assistant vice president of Human Resources' recommendation is unacceptable to the grievant, the grievant will have five business days from receipt of the assistant vice president of Human Resources' recommendation to request a hearing before the appropriate grievance committee. Such a request must be in writing and directed to the assistant vice president of Human Resources. In the absence of a request for a hearing, the grievance will be resolved in accordance with the assistant vice president of Human Resources' recommendation. The assistant vice president of Human Resources shall send the appropriate grievance committee chair notice of the outcome of the informal process within 10 business days of the assistant vice president of Human Resources' recommendation.
- d. If a hearing is timely requested by a grievant, the assistant vice president of Human Resources shall, within 10 business days of receipt, forward the hearing request to the chair of the appropriate grievance committee. The chair shall, within 15 business days of the grievance committee's receipt of the hearing request, issue a notice of hearing to the grievant and assistant vice president of Human Resources. In scheduling the hearing, the chair shall ensure that the date of the hearing provides the grievant and the college at least seven business days' advance notice of any hearing. The chair, in the sole discretion of the chair, may grant a request for a postponement for good cause.

3. Grievance hearing procedure

It is the policy and practice of each grievance committee to conduct hearings in a fair and impartial manner according to these rules:

- a. The hearing will be a personnel matter closed to the public and the press. Only those persons whose presence is required, as determined by the grievance committee, will be permitted to attend.
- b. The grievant may be accompanied, represented, and advised by a representative of their choice who is willing and able to represent the grievant, including an attorney. If the grievant selects a college employee as their representative, the employee may not represent the grievant if doing so would involve a conflict of position, such as might be the case with a member of the Office of Human Resources.

- c. If the grievant was properly notified of the hearing and does not attend, the hearing will convene as scheduled and be decided based on the parties' prehearing written submissions and the presentation of CCBC's representatives during the hearing. If the grievant notifies the chair at least two business days prior to the hearing of an unforeseen personal or medical condition that will not permit the grievant's attendance at the hearing, all attempts will be made to reschedule the hearing within 10 business days. If the grievant notifies the chair less than two days prior to the hearing or shortly after the published start of time of the hearing of an unforeseen personal or medical condition that will not permit the grievant's attendance at the hearing, the chair will decide whether to convene or postpone the hearing. This decision shall be at the chair's sole discretion.
- d. The charges and evidence against the grievant shall be presented by the assistant vice president of Human Resources as the CCBC representative or their designee or representative. The college also may be accompanied, represented, and advised by a representative of its choice, including an attorney.
- e. For grievances that allege (1) a violation, misinterpretation, or inequitable application of written rules, procedures, policies or orders, or (2) a violation of due process or institutional equity of the promotion process, or (3) a violation of the performance evaluation process, a hearing will consist of the following phases:
 - i. Introductions of all individuals present.
 - ii. Overview of the grievance hearing procedures by the chair. The chair will state that "during the entire grievance process, every attempt will be made to ensure that the entire process is objective and fair (non-punitive) to the grievant."
 - iii. Explanation of the issue/charges by the CCBC representative.
 - iv. Opening statement by the grievant (maximum of 15 minutes).
 - v. Opening statement by the CCBC representative (maximum of 15 minutes).
 - vi. Presentation of the grievant's position, including witness(es) called by the grievant (maximum of 60 minutes).

- vii. Cross-examination of the grievant and grievant's witness(es) by the CCBC representative.
 - viii. Questioning of the grievant or witness(es) by members of the grievance committee.
 - ix. Presentation of CCBC's position, including witness(es) called by CCBC (maximum of 60 minutes).
 - x. Cross-examination of the CCBC representative and witness(es) by the grievant.
 - xi. Questioning of the CCBC representative or witness(es) by members of the grievance committee.
 - xii. Closing summary statement by the grievant (maximum of 15 minutes).
 - xiii. Closing summary statement by the CCBC representative (maximum of 15 minutes).
 - xiv. The grievance committee will enter a closed session for its deliberations.
- f. For grievances that relate to a decision/recommendation involving (i) termination of a tenured faculty member (ii) disciplinary action, (iii) discharge for cause, or (v) non-renewal of a contract, a hearing will consist of the following phases:
- i. Introductions of all individuals present.
 - ii. Overview of the grievance hearing procedures by the chair; the chair will state that "during the entire grievance process, every attempt will be made to ensure that the entire process is objective and fair (non-punitive) to the grievant."
 - iii. Explanation of the issue/charges by the CCBC representative.
 - iv. Opening statement by the CCBC representative (maximum of 15 minutes).
 - v. Opening statement by the grievant (maximum of 15 minutes).
 - vi. Presentation of CCBC's position, including witness(es) called CCBC (maximum of 60 minutes).

- vii. Cross-examination of the CCBC representative and CCBC's witness by the grievant.
 - viii. Questioning of the CCBC representative or witness(es) by members of the grievance committee.
 - ix. Presentation of the grievant's position, including witness(es) called by the grievant (maximum of 60 minutes).
 - x. Cross-examination of the grievant and grievant's witness by the CCBC representative.
 - xi. Questioning of the grievant or witness(es) by members of the grievance committee.
 - xii. Closing summary statement by the CCBC representative (maximum of 15 minutes).
 - xiii. Closing summary statement by the grievant (maximum of 15 minutes).
 - xiv. The grievance committee will enter a closed session for its deliberations.
- g. The hearing times may be extended by majority vote of a quorum of the grievance committee at its sole discretion. Representatives may ask questions during or after the presentations.
 - h. All evidence against the grievant will be presented in their presence. The grievant (or their representative) shall be permitted to question and confront any witness, to speak for themselves, and to present witnesses and evidence on their behalf.
 - i. At least three business days before the hearing, the grievant and assistant vice president of Human Resources (or their representatives) must file with the chair a brief written description of their position regarding the grievance, with exhibits if desired. This description shall also be provided simultaneously to all parties. The description shall not exceed 10 pages, double-spaced, with one-inch margins, and must be at least 12-point type font. Failure to adhere to these requirements, without advance approval of the grievance committee chair, may result in the brief not being considered. If the college or the grievant wishes to present a position at the hearing that was not referenced in their initial position description, the grievance committee may exclude such testimony if the committee believes that the position or information was available to the college or grievant at the time their position statement was filed. New positions or information does not refer to information used to rebut the opposing party's position statement. These decisions shall be at the grievance committee's sole discretion.

- j. All parties must act with courtesy and dignity. Technical rules of evidence or procedure as followed in judicial proceedings will not apply, and the grievance committee will not entertain technical legal motions. Reasonable rules of relevancy will guide the grievance committee in ruling on the admissibility of evidence. The grievance committee may limit testimony, including unduly repetitious testimony.
- k. The college will cooperate with the grievance committee to obtain necessary witnesses, documentation and other evidence. Employees of the college will be made available as witnesses if the chair requests their presence. Witnesses will be paid their regular salary or overtime as appropriate for their time during the hearing. Witnesses shall be assured freedom from restraint, interference, coercion, discrimination or reprisal in presenting their testimony. In the discretion of the grievance committee, witnesses may be sequestered during the testimony of other witnesses. Former employees and students may be invited as witnesses, but there is no authority to compel their attendance. Testimony of such witnesses may be presented by secure video conferencing, which allows for the grievant, the college, and their respective representatives to observe, hear, and question witnesses who cannot be compelled to appear in person or have a legitimate reason for appearing remotely. If the college determines that it is administratively impracticable to make a current employee available, the chair shall be notified in writing of the reasons for that determination. If the chair finds that the presence of that witness is essential to a full and fair hearing, the hearing may be postponed until the witness is available.
- l. Either a stenographic record or audiotape of the hearing may be made, as determined by the grievance committee after discussion with the grievant and the assistant vice president of Human Resources. If a stenographic record or audiotape is made, copies will be made available to the grievant at their expense. If a court reporter is used, the grievant will be responsible for obtaining their own copy of the transcript from the reporter.
- m. The grievance committee, through the chair, shall deliver its recommendation in writing to the grievant, the assistant vice president of Human Resources, and the college president within 15 business days of the conclusion of the hearing. The grievance committee shall state its findings and the reasons supporting its recommendation.

4. Decision of the college president

- a. Upon receipt of the grievance committee's recommendation, the president may request additional information from the parties or the grievance committee and may review the record of the hearing and evidence received at the hearing. The president may also request a meeting with the grievance committee and/or its chair. Within 10 business days after receiving the recommendation, the president shall render their decision. The president shall state the reason(s) for their decision in writing to the grievant with copies to the assistant vice president of Human Resources and the chair of the grievance committee.
 - b. The president's decision is final except in matters relating to termination for cause and the non-renewal of a faculty member with a five-year contract. If the grievant disagrees with the president's decision to terminate for cause or not renew a faculty member's five-year contract, they may request a hearing before the board, in which case the president shall provide their decision to the college board. The board hearing procedure, including the applicable time requirements for requesting a hearing before the board is included in Board Policy 2.08.
5. Time limits:
The time limits and other requirements of this procedure apply unless an individual contract provides for a different procedure or a longer applicable time period. The time limits and other requirements of this procedure may be changed or waived by agreement of all of the affected parties.

2.08 Board of trustees as the board of appeals for a termination for cause of faculty, administrators/professionals and non-represented classified employees

- A. This procedure for appeal of a termination for cause of faculty, administrators/professionals, and non-represented classified employees (the "procedure") sets forth the procedure for faculty, administrators/professionals, and non-represented (collectively, the "employee") to request an appeal and hearing by the board of a termination for cause. "Cause" does not include non-renewal of an employee's contract except for the non-renewal of a faculty member's five-year contract. This procedure applies solely to a termination for cause of an employee that is properly the subject of an appeal and hearing before the board under CCBC policies or individual contracts. This procedure does not create any independent right to a hearing before the board. The board may follow these procedures in other circumstances as it deems appropriate.

- B. Review by the board under this procedure is limited to whether CCBC exceeded its authority in a termination for cause, or whether CCBC erroneously applied any applicable CCBC policy to a termination for cause. The board, in its sole discretion, may expand the review of an appeal.
- C. It is the policy and practice of the board to conduct hearings in a fair and impartial manner according to this procedure.
- D. The employee must have exhausted all procedures available under CCBC policies or an individual contract, including the grievance procedure in Board Policy 2.07, before the employee can request an appeal to the board.
- E. The employee must request an appeal in writing to the chair of the board (the “chair”), with a copy to the president of CCBC (the “president”). The request must be dated, contain the name and position of the employee, a brief description of the basis of the termination for cause, the date of the termination for cause, and the date a final decision was issued under any grievance procedure afforded the employee under CCBC policies. The request must be dated and signed by the employee.
- F. Unless another applicable CCBC policy or contract provides otherwise, the written request must be received by the chair of the board and the president within 10 business days from the date of a final decision issued under any CCBC grievance procedures or individual contract. If the 10th day falls on a date when CCBC is officially closed, the 10th day shall be the next business day after the date when CCBC is officially closed. Time limits are of the essence in order that the matter shall not become stale. Failure to meet the time limits will result in denial of the appeal, except in special circumstances as determined by the board in its sole discretion.
- G. Upon timely receipt of the written request, the board will schedule a hearing for the next regularly scheduled board meeting date that is at least 21 business days after receipt by the chair of the written appeal. That hearing shall be a personnel matter, and not open to the public. The board shall be the sole determiner of the propriety of those who may attend, except that either or both parties shall be permitted to be represented by an attorney or by an employee of CCBC.
- H. At least 15 business days before that hearing, the employee may (but does not have to) file a brief written description of the grounds supporting their grievance and its appeal, with exhibits if desired. The description shall not exceed 10 pages, double-spaced, with one-inch margins, and be at least a 12-point type font. Failure to adhere to these requirements may result in the description and any exhibits not being considered, at the board’s sole discretion.
- I. At least five business days before that hearing, the president or the designee of the president, may (but does not have to) file a written reply to the written description filed by the employee, with exhibits, adhering to the same time constraints as apply to the employee.

- J. The hearing will consist of each side being afforded 15 minutes in which to present its position. Members of the board may ask questions during or after the presentation. Unless the board decides otherwise by majority vote of the board members who are present in the hearing, these presentation time limits shall be followed strictly.
- K. The board requires that all parties act with courtesy and dignity. There will be no formal rules of evidence.
- L. Unless specifically authorized or requested by the board, no post-hearing briefs or written positions will be considered.
- M. Nothing in this procedure impedes the right of the board, in its absolute discretion, to meet in executive session, to seek counsel or advice from any source, or take other action deemed appropriate to reach a proper decision.
- N. The board will issue a written decision in a form the board deems appropriate, usually within 30 business days following the hearing. That decision will be final and binding.
- O. The board may, in its sole discretion, waive any of the provisions in this procedure with the written agreement of the parties, and reserves the right to adjust this procedure as deemed appropriate by the board to act fairly.

3.06 Intellectual property rights

The Community College of Baltimore County, also referred to as CCBC or the college, encourages the development of original materials by faculty and staff, both for personal and professional use, and for the benefit of the college's students, their learning, needs and goals. The college encourages and supports refinement and revision of these materials, as well as experimentation with new and innovative concepts and materials for the primary purpose of supporting learning. It is the general intention of this policy that the college and its employees share the joint and several rights to continued use without compensation of ordinary college-related material created by covered persons with college resources, and that material created by individuals outside of college time and without college resources belong to the person who created it.

- A. Scope
- This policy applies to all faculty, staff, administrators, and other persons employed by the Community College of Baltimore County, both full time and part time. It applies to visiting faculty, and any other persons, including students, who create or discover applicable intellectual property using significant college resources beyond ordinary and usual classroom and subject resources. College resources include all tangible resources provided by the college, except salary, related benefits, and paid leaves. This policy will be distributed generally.
- B. Property
- Intellectual property covered by this policy (applicable intellectual property) is any invention, creation, innovation, discovery, or improvement developed with college resources (with the exceptions noted in a. and b. below, and in the section of this policy titled "web courses"), for which the creator receives the assistance or support of the college for developing commercially, or for which assignment to the college is required by agreement, such as pamphlets and brochures. Applicable intellectual property also includes all television works and broadcasts created by an employee using CCBC's television and broadcasting facilities and resources.

Applicable intellectual property does not include:

- a. Traditional works of scholarship and creativity. These are works reflecting research and/or creativity, expressed in any medium, which are considered as evidence of professional advancement or accomplishment, such as scholarly publications, dissertations, journal articles, treatises, research bulletins, monographs, books, plays, choreographic works, poems, musical works (including lyrics), dramatic works (including any accompanying music), works of art, photographs, sculptural works, and software, such as an electronic textbook, glossary, or encyclopedia, that is designed primarily to provide information to the user.
- b. Instructional materials. These are works, expressed in any medium, whose primary use is for the instruction of students, such as textbooks, syllabi, graphs, diagrams, bibliographies, simulations, lecture notes, study guides, overhead transparencies, as well as digitized versions of these materials such as multimedia materials, educational software, and webpages and all content incorporated on those pages the college may use instructional materials that are developed or produced by a person to whom this policy applies on a nonexclusive, royalty-free basis for non-commercial purposes.

C. Ownership

The college owns the rights to all works, inventions, developments and discoveries (herein referred to as “work” or “works”) created by employees within the scope of their employment (including students working for the college) or whose creation involves the substantial use of college equipment, services or resources. This includes any patentable invention, computer-related software, databases, web-based learning, and related materials. The use of college equipment, services or resources is “substantial” when it entails a kind or level of use not ordinarily available to all, or virtually all, faculty, staff and/or students.

When employee-created intellectual property results from third-party grants, contracts, or awards made to the college, the intellectual property is owned by the college unless written agreement involving the college, the employee, and the sponsor establishes an alternative ownership arrangement. No such agreement shall be entered into without the review and approval of the president. The terms of any final grant govern.

A compilation is a work formed by the collection and assembly of college-owned and individual-owned intellectual property in such a way that the resulting work, as a whole, constitutes an original work. If a work is a compilation, each contributor shall retain all ownership interests in their intellectual property; but by allowing the work to become part of the compilation, they thereby grant a non-exclusive, royalty-free license to the college for use of their contribution. While the college shall own rights to the compilation, it shall own no rights to the underlying work beyond said license and will share any net proceeds from the compilation as described below.

If an employee creates intellectual property other than a scholarly work which may lead to commercial development, they are required to immediately notify their immediate supervisor and dean in order to provide them with sufficient information to permit the college to evaluate the work, both its ownership and its commercial potential, and, if appropriate, to take steps to protect the college's intellectual property rights. If ownership rests with the college, but the college elects not to exercise its ownership rights, then ownership rights and responsibilities related to patenting, copyrighting and licensing belong to the author(s). In such case, the college retains a non-exclusive, royalty-free right to use the work for non-commercial purposes.

In the case of employee-owned intellectual property, the author/creator may petition the college to accept assignment of ownership rights and the attendant control of and responsibility for development. The college, however, is under no obligation to accept this assignment.

Clarification of “within the scope of employment”

Works related to an individual's job responsibilities, even if they are not specifically requested to create them, belong to the college as works-for-hire, except as described in Section B. A work is related to one's job responsibilities if it is the kind of work one is employed to do and one does it, at least in part, for one's use at work, or for use by fellow employees, the college or the college's clients. The work should be performed substantially at work using work facilities, but one's use of personal time or other facilities to create the work will not change its basic nature if it is related to one's job as described above. Works that have nothing to do with job duties will remain the property of the employee, so long as they make no more than incidental use of college facilities.

For example, if your job is “safety engineer,” a software program that you create on your own initiative to run on each employee's computer to show a graphic of their nearest fire exits is related to your job duties and belongs to the college, even if no one asked you to create it and you did some of the programming at home on your own computer. A program that you create that does not relate to your job, that neither you nor others use at work, and that you create on your own time belongs to you.

If intellectual property results from research supported by federal funds or third-party sponsorship and no written agreement involving the college, the researcher and the sponsor have established an alternative ownership arrangement.

Rights of the college concerning works owned by their creators

The college may use materials created by faculty for internal instructional, educational, and administrative purposes for any purpose, including satisfying requests of accreditation agencies for faculty-authored syllabi and course descriptions, on a non-exclusive, royalty-free basis for non-commercial purposes without obligation.

Rights of the college concerning class-related works created by students

The college reserves the right to keep a copy of all coursework produced by a student. The college reserves the right to make copies of student papers and other scholarly works for use in the college curriculum and for archival purposes. 4.11A Creation of a fiscal exigency plan and reduction in force

I. Preamble

As a public institution, the Community College of Baltimore County must be fiscally responsible to the citizens of both Baltimore County and the state of Maryland. According to its mission, vision and values, the college is committed to serving these citizens by responding to individual and collective needs with convenient, comprehensive, and diverse educational programs and support services.

The college is also committed to the principle of shared governance and the optimal use of its human resources. These commitments and the college's mission and institutional goals will guide the implementation of a fair and equitable fiscal exigency plan. This fiscal exigency policy is designed to delineate the rights of individual employees; however, the college's mission will drive the particulars of any fiscal exigency plan and ensuing decisions.

This policy addresses a reduction in force and consequent layoff of employees due to a fiscal exigency. It does not address reductions in force that result from academic program reviews, lack of enrollment in a specific program, elimination or outsourcing of a college service, or a change in the college's mission from external or regulatory changes. Additionally, non-renewal of contracts or contract termination due to lack of grant or contract funding are not considered a reduction in force for fiscal exigency.

II. Fiscal management actions

It is the administration's continuing responsibility to (1) manage resources and expenses within the approved annual budget and (2) plan for balanced budgets in subsequent fiscal years.

In response to fiscal constraints, the college may implement a variety of cost-saving or revenue-enhancing measures. This may happen during a fiscal year or in planning for the next fiscal year's budget. These measures include, but are not limited to, the following (listed in no particular order) which will be implemented to the degree that circumstances require. The implementation of any or all of these measures does not initiate or establish a fiscal exigency.

- A. Increasing efforts to boost enrollment.
- B. Seeking additional revenue from external sources.
- C. Selling college assets.
- D. Reducing non-personnel expenditures.
- E. Reducing college funding for co-curricular and student activities.
- F. Implementing organization changes or consolidations to reduce costs.
- G. Altering academic program emphases and/or scope; eliminating programs.
- H. Freezing or delaying new faculty or staff hires.
- I. Reducing the number of positions in a department or program by only filling vacancies required for continuance of programs or services.
- J. Offering voluntary retirement or separation incentives.
- K. Adjusting the number of part-time employees.
- L. Mandating changes in work hours and/or work assignments.
- M. Evaluating the increased use of ten-month or fractional contracts with proportional decreases in salaries.
- N. Reducing fringe benefits, including health insurance coverage.
- O. Increasing employee premium participation.
- P. Limiting or suspending faculty, administrative or professional sabbaticals.
- Q. Limiting or suspending faculty promotions.
- R. Limiting or suspending salary increases.
- S. Furloughing employees.
- T. Increasing class sizes.
- U. Raising the minimum enrollment to run classes.
- V. Reassigning administrative personnel to instruction when these individuals are qualified to teach.
- W. Providing retraining opportunities for full-time employees when (1) an employee has an interest in, and aptitude for, training in another discipline or service area, and (2) a need exists in the employee's area of interest.
- X. Implementing other cost-saving or revenue-enhancing strategies.

III. Declaration of a fiscal exigency

Fiscal exigency is a serious condition wherein the operating funds of the college are inadequate to successfully maintain the established level of programs and services. The college's response to the financial deficiency will include a reduction in force of full-time employees in budgeted operating fund positions.

Fiscal exigency is declared by the college's Board of Trustees in accordance with Board Policy 4.11.

IV. Input, development and communication of a fiscal exigency plan

As provided in Policy 4.11, the president shall recommend to the Board of Trustees a contingency plan to address a fiscal exigency.

- A. The president will appoint a Fiscal Exigency Task Force (“task force”) to advise them in the development of a plan. Unless otherwise approved by the president, the Fiscal Exigency Task Force will complete its work within 30 calendar days.
- B. The task force will have 26 representatives as follows:
 - 1. Two vice presidents, appointed by the president.
 - 2. Two instructional deans, appointed by the president.
 - 3. One Enrollment and Student Services dean, appointed by the president.
 - 4. The assistant vice president of Human Resources.
 - 5. The chief information officer.
 - 6. Seven faculty members, one from each academic credit school, and one from the library, to be elected from their membership.
 - 7. Two faculty, administrators, or professionals from Continuing Education, to be elected from their membership.
 - 8. Two administrators from the non-instructional areas (Administrative Services, Enrollment and Student Services and Institutional Advancement) to be elected from its membership.
 - 9. Two professionals from the non-instructional areas (Administrative Services, Enrollment and Student Services and Institutional Advancement) to be elected from its membership.
 - 10. One additional administrator and one additional professional staff member, from any area of the college, who do not report directly to any of the other committee members, appointed by the president.
 - 11. Two non-exempt Unit 2 staff who do not report directly to any of the other committee members, appointed by the CWA president.
 - 12. One non-exempt Unit 1 staff member, who does not report directly to any of the other committee members, appointed by the AFSCME president.
 - 13. One non-exempt Unit 4 (group 80 and confidential non-exempt) staff member who does not report directly to any of the other committee members, appointed by the president.
- C. The president will designate someone to give a full presentation of the financial state of the college and potential cost-saving strategies to the task force. The task force may seek additional information or invite other presentations.
- D. The task force shall advise the president on programs and services prioritized to meet the college’s mission. The task force should assess which programs are vital to the mission of the institution using available data. Components of the assessment may include enrollment trends, student retention trends, student/faculty ratio within programs, program costs, and compliance with state and federal regulations and accreditation requirements.

- E. The task force shall advise the president on one-time, recurring, personnel and non-personnel savings targets and revenue generation strategies. The task force should consider an equal or proportionate impact on various employee groups as it advises the president on the number of required employees to provide the prioritized programs and services. The task force is specifically not charged with making reduction in force decisions about specific individuals or advising the president about an individual's future employment.
- F. During this process, employees will continue to have opportunities for input in meetings with such groups as their supervisors, their divisions or units, the College Senate, and the task force.

V. Reduction in force and recall

- A. In this policy, a reduction in force is a layoff of full-time employees in budgeted operating fund positions for fiscal exigency. Based upon the fiscal exigency contingency plan approved by the Board of Trustees, the president shall determine the number of full-time positions, by job category, which will be restructured or eliminated in each department or unit. The president's determination shall be based, in part, on the advice of the task force.
- B. The assistant vice president of Human Resources will create a "length of service" list for each job category described in paragraph V(D). The "length of service" list will be ordered as follows:
 - First, based on employees' length of service in their current job category.
 - Second, only for full-time faculty, by academic rank.
 - Third, by employees' total length of service in full-time positions, regardless of job category, inclusive of non-continuous full-time service.
 - Fourth, by lot.

If two employees have the same length of service in their job category, same academic rank (if applicable) and same length of total service at the college, the employees will draw lots, as facilitated by the executive director of Human Resources, to determine order on the "length of service" list.

- C. For purposes of this policy, “length of service” refers to the latest period of continuous full-time employment at the Community College of Baltimore County, Catonsville Community College, Dundalk Community College and Essex Community College, inclusive of family medical leave, departmental medical leave, disciplinary leave (if any) and sabbatical leave, but excluding leave without pay granted in accordance with Board Policy 6.19.

Ten-month full-time faculty who began work for a fall semester between August 15 and August 31 will be assigned a uniform service start date of August 15. All other faculty and employees will be assigned their actual service start dates.

- D. For purposes of the “length of service” list, job categories are as follows:

 8. Full-Time Unit 2 Non-Exempt Employees
 9. Full-Time Unit 4 Classified Non-Exempt Employees
 10. Employees filling interim positions will be included in the job category “length of service” list for their regular position, not their interim position.
 11. Administrators or professionals who continue to hold tenure by virtue of being tenured as a full-time faculty member and being employed in an administrative or professional post for less than four years shall be included in both the faculty and administrative or professional job category length of service lists. (Board Policy 6.11 provides additional details about tenure status.)

When a departure from the order stated above is made, both the positively and the negatively impacted incumbents will receive a written explanation.

F. Notice of layoff

Except as otherwise provided in a collective bargaining agreement, an employee will be given notice of at least 60 calendar days in advance of the layoff date. The employee will be notified of this involuntary separation of employment by the employee's supervisor in a personal interview, if feasible. The employee will also receive written notification of the layoff, either during the notification meeting or afterward via a letter from the Human Resources office to the employee's address of record.

G. Laid-off employees

3. For 24 months, the employee will receive the same benefits, and under the same conditions, as are provided to CCBC retirees, including access to college facilities and IT resources.

H. Recall procedures

1. Human Resources shall retain a comprehensive list of all employees laid off pursuant to this policy for a minimum of two years after separation. It is the obligation of the former employee to keep current contact information on file with the Human Resources office so that the laid-off employee may be contacted about openings; such contact may take place through email or regular U.S. mail, whichever is the most expedient method.
2. Unit 1 and Unit 2 employees will be recalled as provided in their collective bargaining agreement.
3. A faculty, administrative, professional, non-bargaining unit classified employee who has been laid off from the college shall be given preference in hiring, as noted below, for up to two years.
 - a. If the identical position formerly held by the laid-off employee becomes available again during the two-year period, the former employee will be given first priority to fill the position again. The former employee will be notified of this option via email or letter and will be given seven business days to accept the position. If the former employee accepts the reappointment to the position, the employee will be given the same salary earned at the time of separation, provided however, the employee's salary would be subject to the same reductions in pay, if any, implemented for employees who were not laid off. If the former employee declines or does not respond within the seven-day period, then the position may be treated as any other vacancy, with the caveat that other laid-off employees may have priority for the position. ("Business day” means any weekday that the college is officially open for business in accordance with the college’s operating calendar, excluding any weekday that the college is closed for at least four hours due to an emergency such as inclement weather.)

- b. A laid-off employee will also have hiring priority for up to two years for any other full-time, budgeted position (1) that is at or below the grade level of the former position held, (2) for which the individual meets the minimum qualification and is qualified to perform the job duties, (3) that is approved for recruitment by the president, and (4) for which the unit plans to conduct an external search. Former employees will be notified of these positions via email or letter. Former employees will have seven business days to express interest in the position by contacting Human Resources. If the former employee accepts this appointment, salary will be based on the then-current salary guidelines, not the employee’s prior salary.
- c. A laid-off employee does not have priority hiring rights for any temporary positions, any part-time positions, any positions at a higher grade level than the former position held, or any position for which an internal-only recruitment is conducted.
- d. If a laid-off employee expresses interest in a position and is qualified for the position as detailed above, the former employee will receive hiring priority as detailed above. If multiple laid-off individuals in the same job category express interest in the same position, the qualified employee who was highest on their “length of service” list will be given priority. If multiple laid-off individuals in different job categories express interest in the same position, the qualified employee who was in the same job category as the vacant position and was highest on the open position’s job category “length of service” list will be given priority. In all other cases, the qualified employee with the longest length of service will be offered the position.
- e. If a laid-off employee accepts a full-time, budgeted position with the college during the two-year priority period, all priority hiring rights for that individual will end immediately, regardless of the grade level of the position accepted. Individual priority hiring rights do not end if the individual declines or fails to express interest in a position offered by the college, if the individual accepts a temporary or part-time position with the college, or if the individual accepts employment outside the college.

4.11B Furloughs as a fiscal management action

I. Purpose

In accordance with Board Policy 4.11A, the college may implement a variety of cost-saving or revenue-enhancing measures, including furloughs, in response to fiscal constraints. This policy provides the framework for implementation of employee furloughs. The implementation of a furlough does not initiate or establish fiscal exigency.

II. Definitions

Employee: The term “employee” shall mean executive, administrative, professional, faculty, and classified staff. For the purposes of this furlough policy, “employee” does not include part-time associates, adjunct faculty, or students in work-study positions.

Essential Employee: The term “essential employee” shall mean any position at CCBC that is critical to the health and safety of CCBC employees and students and/or are critical to the day-to-day operations of the college. As a result of the critical function they perform, those employees designated as essential employees are subject to being called to work during times that the employee would ordinarily be away from work, as specified in the College Handbook.

Furlough: The term furlough shall mean time off without pay for a specific period of time without the use of accrued paid-time-off (PTO). Furloughs allow for temporary cost savings for the college. Furloughs may minimize the need to reduce college services, may minimize the impact of cost-saving measures on the college workforce, and allow the college to recover more quickly once the need for such cost-savings measures has abated. Furloughs are included as one of many fiscal management actions that may be employed by the college listed in Board Policy 4.11A.

III. Scope

This is a college-wide policy and will apply to all employees as defined above except as prohibited by a collective bargaining agreement. This policy contemplates universal participation in furloughs by full-time employees. To the extent that furloughs are prohibited by a collective bargaining agreement, the college should seek to negotiate a similar impact on union employees. This policy does not apply to part-time associates, adjunct faculty, or students in work-study positions.

In the event that the president determines that furlough is the most appropriate cost-saving measure to address a budgetary or financial shortfall, the college may implement the following furlough options:

A. College-Wide Furloughs

The entire college may be closed for a specific number of days. During this time, furloughed employees are strictly prohibited from performing any assigned duties including checking work-related email and voicemail. Supervisors shall not direct furloughed employees to work.

B. Individualized Furloughs

An individualized furlough may: (a) reduce the number of work hours in a day; (b) reduce the number of workdays in a week; or (c) designate specific days off without pay. To the extent possible and practicable, no more than one individualized furlough day, i.e., 7.5 or 8 work hours, should be scheduled per pay period. However, the president may authorize more than one furlough day within a pay period.

As part of the decision-making process, procedures will be developed and implemented at the time to determine how the furloughs will be managed.

IV. Effects on benefits

All employee benefits will remain in place during a period of furlough, subject to the terms of the applicable benefit plan, program, or policy. All insurance coverage and payments shall continue. All paid time off leave shall accrue as if the employee were working. Holidays shall be paid as usual.

To the extent that benefits are continued during furlough, each employee's contributions will be deducted from pay as per usual. In the event of insufficient funds, payment of the employee's portion of benefits shall be conducted in accordance with "Human Resources Directive, FY 2015-04, Health and Welfare Benefits."

V. Implementation guidelines

- A. Employees will be given a minimum 30-day written notice prior to the implementation of furloughs.
- B. Employees, as defined in Section 2 of this policy, will be required to take furlough days.
- C. During a period of furlough, non-essential employees are not required to be at any college or campus work area and are strictly prohibited from performing any official duties.
- D. Essential employees, as defined in Section 2 of this policy, may be required to work during a furlough period to maintain critical functioning of the college. These essential employees shall be assessed alternate furlough days in accordance with this policy.
- E. Furlough days will be selected to minimize the impact on instructional time.
- F. Work-study students will not be scheduled to work during the furlough period; there will be no impact to funds from the work-study students financial aid awards due to any furlough. Funds associated with financial aid awards will remain available for future payments to work-study students.

- G. No overtime, extra-time or compensatory time may be granted to compensate for loss of the services of furloughed employees.
- H. No paid leave may be used on, or in lieu of, the period of furlough.
- I. Employees on or scheduled for leave during the period of furlough will be assessed furlough days and leave balances will not be affected.
- J. Authorized travel will not be affected by the scheduling of furlough days. If an employee is scheduled for authorized travel on a furlough day, their furlough will be assessed on an alternate day.
- K. Implementation of furloughs for grant-funded employees will be accomplished in accordance with the provisions of the grant.
- L. Furlough wages will be deducted in one (1) pay period as the default; however, in order to minimize the impact of furlough, an employee may choose to have furlough wages deducted over four (4) pay periods, unless fewer than four pay periods remain in the fiscal year when the furlough occurs. If furlough is spread over four pay periods, employees must sign an agreement that allows the college to recoup all unpaid furlough amounts in the event of separation from the college.

4.13 Investment policy

 - 1. This investment policy applies to all financial assets of the college which are under the direction of the board. These funds are included in the college’s annual report and include the unrestricted and restricted funds, and agency funds.
 - 2. The standard to be used by the investment officials shall be the “prudent person” standard and shall be made with judgment and care under the circumstances then prevailing, which persons of prudence, discretion and intelligence exercise in the management of their affairs, not for speculation but for investment, considering the probable safety of their capital as well as the income to be derived.
 - 3. The primary objectives, in priority order, of the board’s investment activities shall be:
 - a. Safety: Safety of principal is the foremost objective of the investment program. College investments shall be undertaken in a manner that seeks to ensure preservation of capital in the overall portfolio.  - b. Liquidity: The college’s investment portfolio will remain sufficiently liquid to enable the board to meet all operating requirements, which might be reasonably anticipated.

- c. Return on investment: The college's investment portfolio shall be designed with the objective of attaining a market rate of return throughout the budget and economic cycles, taking into account the board's investment risk constraints and the cash flow characteristics of the portfolio.
 - 4. The college will diversify its investments by security type and institution. With the exception of U.S. Treasury securities, authorized pools and money market funds, no more than 50% of the Board's total investment portfolio will be invested in a single security type.
 - 5. To the extent possible, the college will attempt to match investments with anticipated cash flow requirements. Unless matched to specific cash flow, the college will not directly invest in securities maturing more than one year from the date of purchase. Reserve funds may be invested in securities exceeding one year if the maturity of such investments is made to coincide as nearly as practicable with the expected use of the funds.
- B. The investment of all college funds shall conform to all state statutes governing the investment of public funds and other policies of the board.
- 1. The college will deal only with financial institutions that qualify under Securities and Exchange Commission rule 15C3-1 (uniform capital rule).

- D. The board's investment strategy is passive. Given this strategy, the basis used to determine whether market yields are being achieved shall be the six-month Treasury bill rate, the average federal funds rate or other recognized indices as approved by the vice president of Administrative Services.

 - The employee or member is enrolled in credit or noncredit courses that will benefit the employer or nonprofit organization.
 - The employer or nonprofit organization pays the fee charged by the college; and
 - The fee reasonably reflects the usual costs charged to students in the same or similar courses.

Contractual arrangements under this program may include customized training as well as employer-paid or organization-paid tuition and tuition reimbursement plans. The employees or members enrolled under this program are eligible to be considered Maryland residents for purposes of state aid.

13. Victims of human trafficking waiver – As provided in Title 16

Students shall be counted in computation of full-time equivalent enrollment for state aid.

Under this provision, information collected as part of the student's registration shall remain confidential. If the community college admits an individual who qualifies for a waiver of the out-of-county fee or out-of-region, a record of the number of individuals for whom a waiver was granted must be maintained and reported to MHEC each year.

MHEC regulations require that an application for waiver contain evidence the applicant is a victim of human trafficking, including:

1. Certified law enforcement, court or other federal or state agency records or files;

A returned Peace Corp Volunteer means a person who has been certified by the Director of the Peace Corps as having served satisfactorily as a Peace Corp Volunteer. A student who attends a community college in the state and pays tuition under this provision is included as an in-state resident for the computation of state aid.

4.17 Fund balance policy

CCBC's fund balance is a measurement of available financial resources and represents the difference between total assets and total liabilities at the end of the fiscal year. CCBC's fund balance will be allocated into the following categories.

- 1) Rainy Day Fund: This is a committed fund balance as established by the Board of Trustees.
 - a) The fund is intended to provide the college with financial liquidity to meet normal operating and contingency obligations, and finance unforeseen needs of an emergency nature or facilitate the orderly adjustment to adverse changes to revenue sources and the economic environment.
 - b) This fund shall be between 1% and 5% of the college's annual operating revenue (excluding student Title IV aid, loans, and grants). In the event that the fund falls below 1% due solely to operating revenue growth, the college shall budget the replenishment within the next fiscal year.
 - c) This fund may be spent on any expenditure appropriately classified in the college's general fund.
 - d) Spending must be approved by the Board of Trustees either within the board-approved budget or within a budgetary deficit reduction plan recommended by the president. A budget or deficit reduction plan using the Rainy Day Fund should describe how the college's expenditure and/or revenue levels will be adjusted to match any new economic realities that are behind the use of this fund as a financing bridge, and describe the time period and means over which the Rainy Day Fund will be replenished.
- 2) Strategic Reserve Fund: This is an assigned fund balance as established by the Board of Trustees.
 - a) This fund is intended to be expended over time and not replenished except by specific board action.
 - b) The fund will be restricted for the following non-recurring expenses:
 - i) Major expenditures that cannot be funded in the current fiscal year through the operating budget.
 - ii) Forward funding or "loans" for major expenditures that may require more money than would be available for the specific purpose in a single year.
 - iii) Specific capital projects with a funding deficit.
 - iv) Unforeseen or unpredictable expenses that cannot be funded in the current fiscal year through the operating budget.
 - v) Other appropriate uses as recommended by the president.
 - c) Expenditures from this fund require prior approval of the Board of Trustees. Approval may be provided through (1) regular approval of a purchase with the Strategic Reserve Fund noted as the funding source or (2) an approved project plan of multiple expenditures to achieve the same objective.

- 3) Unassigned fund balance: CCBC's annual budgetary surplus is recorded in this fund.
 - a) CCBC shall strive to accumulate $400,000 to $750,000 of surplus each budget year. Any surplus above $750,000 should be transferred to the Rainy Day Fund until said fund reaches the limit in this policy.
 - b) These unassigned surplus funds shall be used as a fully expendable revenue source in the upcoming operating budget, i.e., the unassigned surplus fund balance on June 30, 2024, at the end of a fiscal year (FY2020), will become revenue in next development cycle (FY2022).

Section 5: Academic policies

5.01 Academic goals and aspirations of the college

A. The college aspires to:

1. Offer a broad spectrum of high-quality educational services to meet community needs.
2. Be responsive to individual and collective educational needs.
3. Offer programs designed to enrich the lives of students and to raise their level of aspirations and accomplishments.

Emeritus status is an honor bestowed on retired faculty, administrative and professional CCBC employees. This honor is given in recognition of outstanding scholarship, exemplary service to the college and/or work with students. Emeritus appointments continue during the life of the recipient. - b. The candidate must have had a distinguished career at the college, one which has been deemed outstanding when compared to other employees with similar career requirements. Their contributions must have helped to improve the strength, growth and integrity of the college.

C. Recommendation process

Any active, full-time employee may nominate an individual for emeritus status by submitting the following documents:

7.08 Duties of the Department of Public Safety

The Community College of Baltimore County strives to maintain a safe and secure environment for students, faculty, staff, and the public. To address concerns for personal safety, the college has created a Department of Public Safety, which is committed to providing a comprehensive program of police, security, crime prevention, fire safety, emergency medical service, traffic enforcement and related public safety services to help ensure the college community remains a safe and enjoyable place to work and learn.

The Department of Public Safety includes officers who have been commissioned as special police by the state of Maryland. At the college's campuses and extension centers, these public safety officers are granted the same authority as police officers in any city or county, including the power to make arrests, apply for criminal charges, apply for search and seizure warrants, to protect life and property, and to otherwise enforce the laws of the state of Maryland and the ordinances of Baltimore County in cooperation with local law enforcement agencies.

Based on an assessment of the professionalism of the college's Department of Public Safety, and the kinds of threats that educational institutions and law enforcement officers must be prepared to deal with today, the board has concluded that arming certain public safety officers will allow them to provide a higher level of protection in the areas they patrol and allow for a more effective response in high-risk situations.

Departmental personnel are authorized to carry weapons on duty as follows:

- A. Director and assistant directors who (1) hold a special police commission for CCBC, (2) are former sworn police officers who left their agency in good standing with at least eight years of experience, and (3) have a Maryland concealed handgun permit or a Law Enforcement Officer Safety Act (LEOSA) certification; and are authorized to carry firearms.
- B. Public safety officers who hold commissions as special police for CCBC are authorized to carry electroshock weapons such as Tasers.
- C. Other public safety officers will not be armed.

Public safety officers who carry weapons must qualify, be trained, and maintain certifications in accordance with applicable statutes and best practices. The Department of Public Safety shall maintain general orders (operations manual) which reflects current best practices and model policies and procedures within the law enforcement profession.

8.01 Regulations for affiliated foundations

A. General

The Board of Trustees of the Community College of Baltimore County (the “board”) recognizes the importance of voluntary private support including, but not limited to grants and contributions that support the activities of the Community College of Baltimore County (the “college” or “CCBC”). Accordingly, the Board of Trustees wants to encourage a broad base of support from many sources, particularly increased levels of private contributions. To achieve this goal, the Board of Trustees supports the establishment and continuation of the “affiliated foundation” (as hereinafter defined and named the Community College of Baltimore County Foundation Inc.) that will support the mission and activities of the college.

The purpose of these regulations for the affiliated foundation (these “regulations”) is to set forth the requirements for an organization to operate as the affiliated foundation of the college. These regulations were created to comply with the requirements for the establishment of an affiliated foundation to be associated with a Maryland public institution of higher education under Sections 15-104 and 17-303 of the Education Article of the Maryland Code, and Section 13B.07.02.05 of the Code of Maryland Regulations. Any and all applicable requirements contained in Sections 15-104 and 17-303 of the Education Article of the Maryland Code, and Section 13B.07.02.05 of the Code of Maryland Regulations, and any amendments and successor statutory provisions or regulations thereto, for the establishment of the affiliated foundation and continuing association between the affiliated foundation and the college shall be deemed included in and a part of these regulations.

The college shall accept funds only from the affiliated foundation that is established and operated in compliance with these regulations, as determined by the college in its sole discretion. The Board of Trustees shall monitor the relationship between the college and the affiliated foundation to ensure continued compliance with these regulations and the operating agreement between the affiliated foundation and the college.

The college shall enter into a written operating agreement (as defined below) with the affiliated foundation. In general, the operating agreement must be consistent with the provisions of these regulations. However, notwithstanding the foregoing and anything to the contrary contained in these regulations, the Board of Trustees may approve an operating agreement between the college and the affiliated foundation that contains terms that replace or modify a provision contained in these regulations, provided that no such modification may be approved if it conflicts with any provision in these regulations that is required to comply with applicable federal or state laws, rules or regulations.

Accordingly, in the event the Board of Trustees approves an operating agreement, any terms therein that clearly replace or modify provisions contained in these regulations shall govern over the applicable provisions in these regulations, unless such terms replace or modify a requirement in these regulations that is necessary to comply with applicable federal or state laws, rules or regulations, in which case the applicable requirement contained in these regulations shall govern.

B. Criteria for recognition as the affiliated foundation of the college

The Board of Trustees, in its discretion, may recognize a charitable non-profit organization that is created and operated in support of the interests of the college as the “affiliated foundation” of the college (referred to herein, as the “affiliated foundation,” provided that such an organization is created and operated in conformance with these regulations.

4. The organization intending to operate as the affiliated foundation must be formally recognized by the Board of Trustees, which retains the sole authority to recognize a qualifying organization as the affiliated foundation of the college.

As of July 2005, the Board of Trustees recognized the Community College of Baltimore County Foundation Inc., a Maryland nonstock corporation (“CCBC Foundation”), as an affiliated foundation of the college. As of July 1, 2011, the Board of Trustees has recognized CCBC Foundation as the affiliated foundation.

C. Revocation of affiliated foundation status

1. The Board of Trustees may revoke the recognition of an organization as the affiliated foundation:

2. The management, oversight and operation of the affiliated foundation shall rest with its board of directors (the “foundation board”). Members of the foundation board shall be selected in accordance with the affiliated foundation’s articles of incorporation and bylaws, the laws of the state of Maryland, these regulations and the affiliated foundation’s operating agreement.

The operating agreement shall be prepared by the college and the Board of Trustees. After input from the affiliated foundation, the agreement must be approved by the Board of Trustees and the foundation board.
2. The operating agreement may be renewed for a term of at least one but not more than five fiscal years per the terms of such operating agreement or upon the approval of the Board of Trustees, and the affiliated foundation may agree to change the scope of activities of the affiliated foundation contained in the operating agreement from time to time.

3. The operating agreement shall set forth the terms of the affiliated foundation's use of the college's name, logo, emblems, service marks, trademarks and other proprietary interests (collectively the "proprietary interests"). The operating agreement shall provide that, upon revocation of recognition of an organization's status as the affiliated foundation for any reason, the organization shall no longer have the right to use the proprietary interests of the college, shall immediately cease any and all uses of the same, and must formally change its name to exclude any reference to the college or its other proprietary interests within 30 days of such revocation of recognition.

The use of resources by the affiliated foundation shall be addressed in the operating agreement and any resources provided by the college shall be quantified and measured against funds expended by the affiliated foundation for the benefit of the college. The affiliated foundation shall reimburse the college for all additional costs incurred by the college as a result of providing any resource to the affiliated foundation. Any terms of reimbursement to be made by the affiliated foundation to the college for these services shall be set forth in the operating agreement or such supplemental agreement as the college deems appropriate. The affiliated foundation may be assessed an annual overhead charge that shall be determined by the Board of Trustees and as set forth in the operating agreement.
7. Funds expended by the affiliated foundation must be spent in accordance with the operating agreement, the plans, the college rules and regulations and/or all applicable federal, state and county laws and regulations provided, however, that no such expenditures of funds shall be inconsistent with any enforceable restrictions on or designations for the use of such funds expressed by the donor of such funds.

8. The affiliated foundation must ensure that the general public is routinely advised that the college and the affiliated foundation are separate legal entities. The letterhead of the affiliated foundation shall contain its formal legal name (i.e., Community College of Baltimore County Foundation Inc.). All correspondence, solicitations, activities, and advertisements by or on behalf of an affiliated foundation shall contain its formal legal name and clearly identify the activities of the affiliated foundation as its own, and not those of the college. The affiliated foundation shall not use the proprietary interests of the college in any advertisement, solicitation, correspondence or activity without the prior written consent of the college.
9. In all negotiations and transactions for fundraising, enterprise activities and all other activities, representatives and agents of the affiliated foundation shall ensure that all parties involved are fully advised that (i) the affiliated foundation is an independent and separately operated legal entity from the college, and (ii) obligations of the affiliated foundation are not obligations of the college, Baltimore County or the state of Maryland. Further, the affiliated foundation shall acknowledge that it is not an agent of the college, except as may otherwise be agreed between the college and the affiliated foundation in writing.
10. The affiliated foundation shall not hold itself out as, or otherwise be considered to be, an agent of the college, the state of Maryland, or any agency or instrumentality thereof.
11. Institutional advancement programs, fundraising campaigns and solicitations of major gifts for the benefit of the college by the affiliated foundation or any authorized agent thereof shall be compatible with the plans and the needs of the college, as determined by the college in its sole and absolute discretion.

The affiliated foundation shall ensure that each gift received shall be used in accordance with the legally enforceable restrictions, designations, terms and conditions attached to such gift.

13. The affiliated foundation shall not solicit the employment of, or otherwise employ, hire or contract with, an employee of the college to perform work for the affiliated foundation (whether as an employee or independent contractor) on a full-time, part-time or supplemental basis without prior consideration and written approval of the college.
14. Day-to-day financial activities related to the routine operation of the affiliated foundation shall be conducted in accordance with prudent business practices. The foundation board shall adopt an expense authorization and reporting policy consistent with that of the college.

F. Audits and reports

1. The affiliated foundation shall be audited annually by an independent certified public accountant. The independent certified public accountant selected to conduct an audit shall be approved, in advance, by the college. The independent audit shall be a full scope audit (not review), performed in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States of America. As part of the audit, the auditor shall verify a summary annual report of any transfer of funds made to the college. The audit shall contain sufficient detail to allow the college and the Board of Trustees to determine the purpose of the affiliated foundation's expenditures, including the ability to confirm that funds are accounted for and used in accordance with donor instructions.

Additionally, the affiliated foundation shall obtain an annual management letter from the independent certified public accountant, specifically addressing the operating procedures of the affiliated foundation and recommending corrective actions necessary to ensure fiscal propriety and efficiency. The costs associated with all such audits, reports and letters described above shall be the sole responsibility of the affiliated foundation.

Any such audit shall be conducted in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. The affiliated foundation shall fully cooperate with and provide full access to all records required to conduct such an audit to independent certified public accountant engaged by the college for this purpose. The costs and expense of such audits shall be the responsibility of the college. However, if such an audit is conducted in lieu of or because of the affiliated foundation's failure to obtain an annual audit otherwise required to be conducted by the affiliated foundation pursuant to these regulations, then the cost and expense of the audit will be the responsibility of the affiliated foundation.
9. On an annual basis, at a meeting time and date to be mutually agreed upon by the college and the affiliated foundation, the affiliated foundation shall deliver a report to the Board of Trustees summarizing all activities of the previous year as well as any planned activities for the current year.

8.02 Donor recognition

CCBC wishes to publicly acknowledge and honor donors (defined below) in a manner which appropriately recognizes gifts and donations made to the college or the affiliated foundation, and which encourages further giving.

Donors are considered to be individuals, foundations, businesses, corporations, or associations that have contributed materially to the college or the affiliated foundation (collectively, "donors" or individually, a "donor"). The president of the college or designee shall establish guidelines, from time to time, setting forth what constitutes "contributed materially" for purposes of determining whether a person or entity shall be deemed a donor for purposes of this policy.

The vice president of Institutional Advancement is responsible for creating and executing a donor recognition program that may include, but not be limited to "donor circles" and recognition displays. A donor's wish for anonymity shall be respected in all cases.

Capitalized terms (words) not otherwise defined in this section shall have the meaning ascribed to them in Sections 8.01, 8.03 or 8.04 hereof.

Board approval:
June 17, 2015

8.03 Acceptance of grants, gifts and donations

- A. In the name of the college, the president or designee may apply for and accept grants, gifts and donations for the college or the affiliated foundation.
- B. All public and private grants to the college valued in excess of $5,000 shall be presented to the Board of Trustees, upon receipt, for their information.
- C. All public and private grants to the college valued at less than $5,000 shall be brought to the attention of the Board of Trustees on an annual basis for their information.

D. Gifts and donations fall into six categories as follows:

1. Cash, including checks, pre-authorized checks, credit card payments and pledged gifts.
2. Readily tradeable or saleable securities which, generally, include publicly traded shares, bonds, debentures and mutual funds.
3. Securities and equity interests that are not readily tradeable or saleable, such as stock, equity interests, or debt instruments issued by privately held companies.
4. Gifts-in-kind, including academic equipment, instructional material or other capital items. Gifts-in-kind are non-monetary items of tangible personal property such as art, collectives, books, equipment, automobiles, inventory, and other personal assets or materials that represent value to the college. Gifts-in-kind, as defined above, must indeed be tangible property. Unreimbursed expenses such as food, professional services, and limited use of private property are not considered tax-deductible, charitable gifts-in-kind by the Internal Revenue Service or CCBC.
5. Planned gifts or bequests, e.g., gifts of cash, securities or personal property given through a will. Planned gifts include residual legacies and charitable gift annuities.
6. Gifts-in-kind of real estate, including gifts of appreciated property such as a farm, personal residence or undeveloped land. This category includes property donated through a “bargain sale” where the donor receives a current tax deduction but continues to use the property through a “life estate.”

E. Acceptance of gifts-in-kind

When the college is offered a gift-in-kind of any type or nature, either directly or for its benefit, the college may choose either to accept the gift-in-kind for use or sale, or to decline the gift-in-kind. When evaluating the acceptance of a gift-in-kind, the college will consider if the gift is needed, wanted and/or has use within the college, or if it can be sold to benefit the college. Consideration will be given to the cost of accepting the gift (e.g., due diligence, shipping/handling costs, installation charges, licensing fees, etc.), the long-term viability of the gift (e.g., liability concerns [actual or potential], maintenance costs, associated personnel needs, storage fees, insurance costs, copyright issues, etc.), and the resale market if the gift-in-kind is to be sold. Consideration also will be given as to whether the college should accept a gift-in-kind directly, or if it should be accepted by the affiliated foundation, or a special-purpose entity (such as a corporation or limited liability company) set up and owned by the college or the affiliated foundation for the purpose of accepting such gift-in-kind.

Applying this process, deans and program directors may accept gifts-in-kind valued at less than $5,000. The vice president of Institutional Advancement or the president may accept gifts-in-kind valued at more than $5,000.

Capitalized terms (words) not otherwise defined in this section shall have the meaning ascribed to them in Sections 8.01, 8.02 or 8.04 hereof.

8.04 Naming of buildings, programs, endowed chairs and campus locations

CCBC may, occasionally honor, recognize, or memorialize the extraordinary contributions of individuals, community leaders, corporations, or organizations whose generosity, support, dedication, and distinguished service have proven invaluable to the College.

The College may recognize extraordinary contributions through a naming opportunity for a new building, an existing facility, an improvement to an existing building, discrete academic facilities, and interior/exterior communal spaces. Recognition may also include the establishment of a major educational endowment (e.g., endowed chair, fellowship, or scholarship), academic programs, scholarships, lecture series, or other academic activities or programming. In all cases, naming recognition must be consistent with the mission of the College, enhance CCBC's reputation and profile, and be commensurate with the scale and nature of the honor sought, as determined by the College.

In accordance with this policy, the Board of Trustees, on the recommendation of the President, shall determine and approve naming opportunities including the specific names to be used for all physical locations, non-physical elements, and other philanthropic, honorary, and memorial naming opportunities. College facilities will ordinarily be given functional names that are reasonably descriptive and identify the principal activity or purpose of the facility as determined by the College. The President will determine if a particular naming opportunity is suitable for presentation to the Board of Trustees for its approval. Consideration will be given to any potential impact, financial and non-financial, associated with the proposed naming opportunity. Decisions regarding such recognition are to be made in accordance with this policy and other applicable College policies and guidelines, including Board of Trustees Policy 8.03, Acceptance of grants, gifts, and donations. In its sole discretion, the Board of Trustees may decline or otherwise reject a naming opportunity.

For purposes of this policy, the names of incumbent politicians or current CCBC faculty or staff may not be used, unless an exception is explicitly made by the President and the Board of Trustees.

I. Naming Agreement

The Naming Agreement must align with CCBC policy.

II. Philanthropic Naming (Physical Locations)

 3. Upon the President's recommendation, the Board of Trustees approval of the functional name to be used for the physical space will be submitted.
- b. Adhere to the following guidelines when philanthropic naming of a physical entity is associated with a monetary gift or donation.

 2. Completion of committed funding is required for the visual donor recognition to be maintained.
 3. Deferred gift commitments are not eligible for physical naming opportunities.

III. Philanthropic Naming (Non-Physical)

Non-physical elements of the College are available for philanthropic naming opportunities.  2. Completion of committed funding is required for the visual donor recognition to be maintained.
 3. Deferred gift commitments are not eligible for physical naming opportunities.
- c. Request, as necessary, that CCBC's Office of Institutional Advancement establish minimum gift requirements when a monetary donation is associated with naming a non-physical element prior to President approval. Upon approval, the Office of Institutional Advancement will prepare a Naming Agreement and finalize the naming process so the College can move forward.
- d. Obtain Board of Trustees review and approval of the functional name to be used for the physical space, upon the President's recommendation.
- e. Adhere to noted guidelines when philanthropic naming (non-physical) is associated with a monetary gift or donation.

For other philanthropic naming opportunities, a naming proposal, as outlined above, must be provided for review, consideration, and approval by the President and the Board of Trustees.

V. Honorary and Memorial Naming

The College may bestow honorary naming opportunities in recognition of the dedication or meritorious contribution of an individual or family to CCBC.

- a. Submit all requests for an honorary naming to the Vice President of Institutional Advancement for review and approval by the President. The President has sole discretion to determine if the size and nature of the honorary or memorial naming warrants presentation to the Board of Trustees for review and approval prior to the naming being finalized.
- b. Advise the President and Vice President of Institutional Advancement to consult with others as appropriate and consider the following regarding honorary naming.
 1. Years of service to the College.
 2. Significant contributions to the history, achievements, and stature of CCBC.
 3. Recommendation(s) must be forwarded by appropriate Vice President.
 4. Contributions to the growth and sustainability of a CCBC program, initiative, or function.
- c. Base the duration of an honorary naming on terms approved by the Board of Trustees. In most cases, the duration of the naming of a physical location will last during the useful life of the physical element so long as there is an institutional will to sustain it. For a non-physical naming, the duration is unlimited so long as there is an institutional will to maintain it.

VI. Due Diligence

a. Naming for an Individual or Family

To protect the reputation and maintain the excellent standing of CCBC, the Vice President of Institutional Advancement will vet and review each naming opportunity to ensure that the naming results in a positive impact on the College, its mission and reputation, and upholds CCBC's core values.

b. Naming for Corporations, Corporate Foundations, or other Organizations

To prevent commercial influence, conflict of interest and to maintain CCBC's reputation, the Vice President for Institutional Advancement will review each naming opportunity involving corporations or organizations, ensuring it positively impacts the College, its mission, and core values. The following applies when a naming involves a corporate or organizational entity:

1. Naming and donor recognition signage or publications shall not contain corporate or organizational logos or branding, unless approved by the President and the Board of Trustees.
2. Naming for corporations, corporate foundations, or other organizations may be awarded for a maximum of 20 years, with the possibility of renewal with additional giving.
3. If the name of a corporation, corporate foundation, or organization changes due to restructuring, merger, or acquisition, the naming shall remain intact, as long as the terms of the Naming Agreement, and gift payments are honored by the successor organization.
4. If the successor organization requests that CCBC change the physical signage to reflect the successor organization's name, CCBC will honor such a request. The President has the discretion to determine if costs associated with the signage change will be made at the organization's expense.

VII. Revoking or Changing a Name

At the sole discretion of the Board of Trustees, the College may revoke or change a name in certain instances. If CCBC revokes a name, the retention of any related gift will be governed by the associated Naming Agreement. Considerations for revoking or changing a name include the following:

a. CCBC Revocation or Changing a Name

1. Donor does not fulfill a pledge obligation as outlined in the Naming Agreement, including failing to make donation installments as scheduled in the Naming Agreement.
2. Continued use of the name may compromise public trust or CCBC's reputation.
3. A philanthropic naming opportunity is used to replace an honorary naming.
4. Demolition, substantial renovation, reconstruction, or repurposing of a physical space that substantially changes the function or appearance of the area.
5. Dissolution of a school, department, program, institute, scholarship, fellowship, or other non-physical element of the College.

b. Changing a Naming at Individual Donor Request

1. If an individual donor requests a change to recognition signage or other naming particulars, such as in the case of a formal, legal name change, CCBC will consider the request and change as per agreed upon by the President and Board of Trustees.
2. Changes to any philanthropic naming for corporations, corporate foundations, or other organizations will be made in accordance with Section VI.

VIII. Consistent Signage

Recognition signage must be consistent with CCBC design standards and may not contain corporate logos or branding unless approved by the President and the Board of Trustees. Any requests for signage associated with a naming opportunity must be reviewed by the Vice President of Institutional Advancement and approved by the President and the Board of Trustees.

IX. Redirection of Funds

If after acceptance of a gift or donation related to a naming opportunity, it becomes impossible or impractical to serve the specific purpose for which the donation was given, the Vice President of Institutional Advancement may recommend to the President and the Board of Trustees, the redirecting of the funds, considering the original purpose of the gift. The Naming Agreement, and applicable law, shall control the College's ability to redirect any such funds.

X. Contacts
