

EDUCATOR/EMPLOYEE DISCOUNTS

Many companies are eager to serve educators and employees at CCBC. A company offering an Educator discount may require you to verify your eligibility. Several methods are used to determine eligibility. Some are as simple as showing a CCBC ID. Others require something more such as verification of employment on school stationery accompanied by a picture ID, or a copy of a pay check with the amount blackened. In the case of International Teacher Identification Card, you must purchase an ID to be eligible for worldwide travel discounts.

Where to Find Educator Discounts

Many companies offer Educator Discounts. Some of the discounts are advertised and others are simply there for the asking. Prior to checking out, ask the sales representative if they offer an Educator's Discount. If they do, enjoy the cost savings! Also, please contact CCBC Benefits Helpline (x4398) so that we can add this to our list.

If you come across additional discounts that are not restricted by residence or union membership, please let Human Resources know, so we can add them here. And remember-- wherever you shop, ask for an educator discount. If one is not available, discuss the benefits of giving one and of being on this list.

The following are some examples of Educator Discounts that educators have enjoyed. Please let us know if these discounts are no longer available. Thank you.
