

Common Course Outline
WLLT 102
Introductory Latin II
3 Semester Hours
The Community College of Baltimore County

Description

Prepares high-novice students for cross-cultural communication through the study of language through reading, writing, listening, speaking and culture; provides connections to other disciplines through the study of Latin and develops awareness of Latin culture and art.

Prerequisites

WLLT 101 or permission according to the placement guidelines.

Overall Course Objectives

Upon completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. use basic grammatical structures of the Latin language successfully in written exercises;
2. comprehend and analyze a variety of topics in written and spoken Latin at the high-novice level;
3. engage in ongoing conversations in class to obtain information and exchange opinions on a variety of topics, including conversations using the language to express emotions at a high-novice level of Latin;
4. develop and give an oral presentation on a culture-related subject using multimedia technology in Latin at high-novice level;
5. identify the major countries where Latin was the primary language and compare the history, traditions, and diverse perspectives of each country;
6. analyze the relationship between the practices and perspectives of different Latin cultures;
7. compare Latin language and cultures with the English language and American culture (as well as other cultures represented by students) and analyze the major differences between them;
8. reinforce and further knowledge of other disciplines through the study of the Latin language;
9. recognize and discuss the role of major cultural artifacts (objects) in the Latin speaking world; and
10. develop proficiency in the use of related technology for independent study of the Latin language and culture.

Major Topics

At a high-novice level, students will study the following topics:

- I. Oral communication (listening and speaking)
- II. Reading
- III. Writing
- IV. Grammar
- V. Values, beliefs and practices of diverse groups of Latin speakers worldwide (to include family relations, religion, gender, communication, and traditions)

- VI. Cultural sensitivity and tolerance
- VII. Major cultural artifacts (objects) from the Latin culture
- VIII. Significant elements of society in the Latin culture (to include the arts, histories, politics and other achievements)

Course Requirements

1. Grading/Exams: Grading procedures will be determined by the individual faculty member but will include the following: at least three chapter quizzes and two major exams (including the final), and ongoing assessment of oral proficiency in the target language.
2. Oral Communication: Students' oral proficiency in the target language will be evaluated daily through a variety of communicative activities. Students will give at least one oral presentation using multimedia technology on a culture-related topic to the class.
3. Writing: The individual faculty member will determine at least two specific writing assignments; one will include a research project on a target culture (i.e. art, dress, foods, literature, and music) and must be a minimum of two pages. At least one other writing assignment must be written in the target language and must be a minimum of one page. When grading projects, special attention will also be given to:
 - clear communication
 - cultural sensitivity
 - the ability to select pertinent sources and information

Other Course Information

This course is a Humanities and Arts general education core course and a Humanities and Arts elective.

Authentic material from CDs, DVDs, language learning software and the internet will be used whenever possible.