Interesting Facts:

- I'm from Nigeria, Lagos precisely.
- I'm bilingual.
- My first travelling experience was to the US, and it was great.
- I used to be a model back in Nigeria and I graduated from a fashion college.
- I am currently interested in helping to mitigate cyber crimes in the United States.
- I like to help others with the insights I have, and I can be found searching for the latest self development tip on the internet.

What has helped you succeed so far at CCBC?

- My willingness to learn has greatly helped me through the time I have been at CCBC. I constantly visit tutoring centers (particularly the math tutoring center), and this has helped to improve my math skills. I was formerly an average math student but over the time at CCBC, I had multiple instances of an "A" grade in math. I can boldly say that the tutoring center helped me achieve this alongside my desire to make the effort to learn.
- Goal setting is a huge part of my lifestyle and this has helped me to achieve a lot at CCBC. I always set goals for myself and I strive to achieve them. I feel excited whenever I check off a goal. A tip that I use regularly to help me achieve my goals is that I attach it to something I love doing like, watching a movie. This tip helps to motivate me to get the task done.

- A crucial part of my success at CCBC has been the advisors, my instructors, the tutoring center, faculty members, and my coursemates. These individuals have helped to inspire me to give my best, they have also instilled in me skills that will be useful through the course of my life. I am so glad that I got to know them and that I took a chance at CCBC.

Why did you decide to become an FYE Mentor?

I decided to become an FYE Mentor because I believe it will be a great platform to give back to my college (CCBC) as well as improve myself. I have learnt quite a number of college survival tips, and would be glad to share it with others. Also, I am a reserved person so I believe becoming a mentor would help me learn to voice my opinion as well as inspire others to do the same. Alongside these, I will be able to gain leadership skills that would help me in the future.
